You have made the decision that things need to change and that in itself can be a daunting prospect. The last thing you need is to be left to deal with how to implement that change on your own or with limited support.

Understanding your objectives

A key to ensuring you get your desired outcome is understanding your objectives.

Some questions we regularly get asked are:

- + How do we go about selling our business?
- + Do we sell shares or the trade and assets?
- + What is my business worth?
- + Can you help me through the entire process from start to finish?

What are your objectives?

- + "I want to increase my market share"
- + "I would like to diversify"
- + "I want to reach further afield"
- + "I want to benefit from synergies in resources and costs"
