Getting under the skin of business, we understand sectors

At Forrester Boyd, we understand the importance of referring your clients to professionals who will offer specialist insight, consistency, and care. That's why we've invested in building expert teams across all our offices who truly understand the environments in which your clients operate.

Each of our sector teams brings not only technical excellence but also a deep appreciation of the specific challenges and regulatory pressures within their industries. Whether your client is a business owner, landholder, charity trustee or education provider, they will receive tailored advice shaped by real sector understanding.

Our specialist areas include, but are not limited to:

Academies

Manufacturing

Agriculture

Ports & Logistics

Charity & Not for Profit

Renewable & Environmental

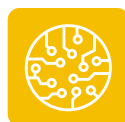

Construction

Health & Social Care

Tech & Media

Legal

Tourism & Leisure

Collaboration at every level

We believe the best outcomes come from working together. Our teams collaborate across offices and specialisms to deliver joined-up, tailored advice.

We apply the same approach with our professional partners, treating referrers as part of the wider advisory team. Whether supporting a solicitor with a business restructure or working alongside an IFA on succession planning, we ensure clear communication and consistent client care throughout.

As members of the UK200Group, we also draw on shared expertise from a national network of independent firms. This gives our clients access to wider insight and technical support—enhancing our advice while maintaining the personal service we're known for.

Our Teams

For ease of reference, our teams are grouped by specialism and office location. You can scan the QR code to view individual profiles and contact details, or simply call the relevant office to speak with them directly. We hope you find this a useful point of contact.

Of course, we're more than just accountants...

All our specialists are fully qualified chartered accountants or chartered certified accountants, offering the full range of core services you'd expect.

On the following pages, you'll find an overview of key areas where our teams add particular value. While we can't list everything, this snapshot highlights the key strengths that set them apart.
